

STATE OF TEXAS
OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

The buildings where Americans live, work and go to school each day are among the safest in the world, protected by the implementation and enforcement of building safety codes.

Although we often cannot foresee or prevent dangerous situations such as fires and severe weather, the presence of thoughtfully written building codes and the diligence of building safety professionals often prevent such situations from becoming tragic. Code enforcement officials, building owners, managers, architects, engineers and manufacturers of building materials all contribute to building safety.

Each May, a weeklong awareness campaign is conducted to reinforce the importance of building safety and the many individuals who contribute their invaluable expertise.

During this week and throughout the year, I encourage all Texans to learn more about building safety and pay tribute to all of the dedicated building safety professionals throughout the Lone Star State.

Therefore, I, Rick Perry, Governor of Texas, do hereby proclaim the month of May 2010,

Building Safety Month

in Texas, and urge the appropriate recognition whereof.

In official recognition whereof,
I hereby affix my signature this the 15th day of April, 2010.

Rick Perry
Governor of Texas
